As gourds rattle and Indians sing, contest dancers get ready to compete and dance their hearts out. This year was the Iowa Tribe of Oklahoma's 25th powwow held at the Bah-Kho-Je Chena Pow Wow Grounds.

Gourd dancing started the weekend off with Nolan Grant as the head gourd dancer. 2010 Iowa Tribal Princess was Shayla Scott Miller. Head staff included Oliver Little Cook as Master of Ceremonies, Steven Little Cook as Head War Dance Singer, Leonard Cozad Jr. as Head Gourd Dance Singer, Garland Kent Jr. as Head Man Dancer, Joyce Big Soldier-Miller as Head Lady Dancer, Red Rock Creek Gourd Dancers as Co-Host, Red Land Singers as Northern Drum, Randy Moore & Pat Moore as Arena Directors, and Trevor Kent & Bear Murray as Water Boys.

The powwow was filled with laughter, food, and fun. Special thanks to the powwow committee, dancers, volunteers, and all who were a part of this important Ceremony.

Dear Tribal Members,

It has been a year since I have taken office. I want to thank you for the opportunity to serve you. This is without a doubt the most challenging position I have ever held. It is also the most honorable and I appreciate your support.

Many things have happened with the tribe during my first year as your Chairman. By now you should have received my speech I delivered to the General Council during elections and the meeting of the General Council. My speech brings tribal members up to date on issues I worked hard to correct. I believe the meeting was a good and productive one.

We have accomplished many things in the last year. The Tribe is doing well and in good financial shape. As everyone knows, Lakes Entertainment is out of Cimarron Casino. I believe this is a good financial move for the casino. This Tribe is capable of running our own casino and employing our own people. Yes, it did cost the tribe money to rid ourselves of the management agreement but it would have cost us several million more if we had stayed with them. The Tribe settled with Lakes Entertainment for $4.5 million dollars with a $1 million payment toward the note at the settlement. The Tribe is determined to have this paid within one year.

I announced recently the Tribe will start on two casinos very soon. One will be located in Coyle and the other will be at the location on Route 66. Neither of the casinos will be on the scale as once promised, but will be smaller and hopefully will grow in time. I don't believe it is in the best interest of the tribe to go into debt building a large casino, yet. It is better to start small than to jump into something that will keep the Tribe in debt for years. Three casinos will generate more revenue which will help the tribe prosper.

The Tribe is finally in good standing with HUD and no longer in jeopardy of losing our housing program. I met with HUD officials several times both locally and in Washington DC, fighting to keep our housing program. HUD first wanted $3 million in re-payment for the mismanagement of our housing program. The Tribe was able to finally settle with HUD for $10,000.

BKJ Solutions is finally going strong and has employed several tribal members lately. The hope is to build a strong construction company comprised of our own tribal members. Currently BKJ has so many opportunities available we are behind hiring even more tribal members. BKJ Solutions was recently presented the opportunity for a mentor-protégé agreement with a large electrical contractor. If the Tribe can take advantage of this opportunity, it will mean several construction jobs for years to come. According to this company's website, the company has estimated annual sales of $500 million. This would be an outstanding opportunity for the Tribe. The company has also vowed training for our tribal members that

INSTALLATION CEREMONY

On Friday July 16th, the elected Business committee members were sworn into office. Elected Business Committee members were Perri Ahhaitty, Renee Lincoln-Prince, and Leslie Tanyan. A speech was presented to everyone and food was provided. Hello Catering provided the ceremony with lunch. Congratulations and good luck to the Vice Chairman, Secretary, and Council-Person.

"Cultivating Health The Traditional Way"

IOWA TRIBE OF OK & PERKINS FAMILY CLINIC 7TH ANNUAL HEALTH FAIR

Many people today show a great concern of their health, as overall health is an issue in America. The Iowa Tribe of Oklahoma held its 7th annual health fair to promote and educate people about the importance of staying healthy. "Walk for Health", a 5K walk, started at 8am and everyone who participated received a free "FUN WALK" t-shirt. Blood pressure tests, blood sugar tests, lead testing, cholesterol testing, lung capacity testing, and general wellness tests were offered for free for people interested in their health. Also, there were many door prizes given away and lunch was provided. Thanks to all volunteers and all participants for a successful Health Fair!

The Iowa Tribe of Oklahoma hosted a golf tournament Saturday June 26th at the Cimarron Trails Golf Course. Below is the winning team. Congratulations to Mr. Komahcheet's team for taking the win!

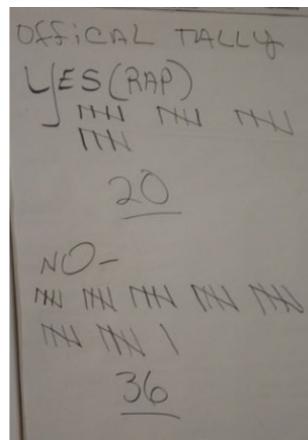

RAP

Saturday July 17th the Business Committee gave Iowa Tribal members a chance to vote for a RAP, or Revenue Allocation Plan. There were also discussions on different topics concerning the RAP and how it would affect the tribe.

Many were educated on what a RAP contained and tribal members were able to present their opinions, thoughts, concerns, and ideas on it. From the turnout of the voting ballots, it was apparent that about 60% of tribal members who were in attendance, did not agree that the RAP was in the best interest of the tribe.

IT also provided a live-stream audio/visual session for tribal members who could not attend but had access to a computer. Special thanks to McAlister's Deli for catering/food. Very special thanks to all tribal members in attendance.

“On July 17, 2010, the Tribe held the second meeting to discuss and vote on whether a Revenue Allocation Plan should be adopted by the tribe. Participating tribal members were given a chance to vote on whether to adopt the plan or deny it. Tribal members attending the meeting voted NOT to adopt the Revenue Allocation Plan, but to increase benefits instead. Since that meeting, we have heard from several of you, stating you want the chance to vote, also. We will discuss this with legal and make an announcement on whether another election will be held on the Revenue Allocation Plan.”

could lead to great opportunities in the electrical field. BKJ is also pursuing several government contracts. Those contracts are worth several millions dollars and can greatly benefit the Tribe. More construction jobs will mean more opportunities for tribal members.

My campaign promise was to hire tribal members. I am proud to say, there are more tribal members working for the tribe than ever before. It is a good thing to see so many happy tribal members around the Tribe. When I took office, the Tribe had a policy to hire only from a select employment agency. My Civil Rights background caused me to challenge the policy by asking two questions. The first question was, “How many tribal members know to apply at this employment agency?” My second question, “How many tribal members have been employed through this employment agency?” Shortly after, the policy was rescinded. Since that time, we have strongly applied tribal hiring preference. I encourage all hiring officials to give tribal members the first opportunity for the jobs. Even more, I encourage all tribal members seeking employment to apply at the Tribe. Be patient with the hiring process though. As I have told everyone, we will eventually find the right place for all.

The Tribe recently held two meetings with tribal members to discuss the Revenue Allocation Plan. On our first meeting with the General Council in May about the plan, tribal members were evenly split on whether to increase benefits or whether to adopt the Revenue Allocation Plan that would allow for distributions from gaming revenue. The reason for the split decision was because if the Tribe increases benefits to tribal members, the benefits are not taxed by the Federal Government. If the Tribe distributes money from gaming revenue, the money is taxed by the government like any other income source.

On July 17, 2010, the Tribe held the second meeting to discuss and vote on whether a Revenue Allocation Plan should be adopted by the tribe. Participating tribal members were given a chance to vote on whether to adopt the plan or deny it. Tribal members attending the meeting voted NOT to adopt the Revenue Allocation Plan, but to increase benefits instead. Since that meeting, we have heard from several of you, stating you want the chance to vote, also. We will discuss this with legal and make an announcement on whether another election will be held on the Revenue Allocation Plan.

I am very proud of this Tribe and even more honored to serve as your Chairman. It hurts me that I cannot help everyone requesting assistance. I recently said, “I have been an advocate for the rights of Indian people most of my life. It’s OK that I don’t win every battle. It’s not OK if I quit fighting.” As your Chairman, I will fight those battles. According to our Constitution, the Chairman only votes in case of a tie. I will promise to present your issue and fight for your rights. I may not win, but you will not be alone in the battle.

Sincerely,

Janice Rowe-Kurak
Chairman

Tribal members are now beginning to see the efforts of the Information Technology department that was created in February. Some of the recent projects completed are the redesign of the Tribe's website www.lowanation.org and the live video streaming of recent events like the General Council meeting, Installation Ceremony, and Revenue Allocation Plan (RAP) meetings.

More changes are on the way. Later this year, the website will have a new section for tribal members only. Members will be able to participate in blogs, see a tribal calendar, and much more. The IT department is also working on the deployment of an electronic system which will speed up its ability to process purchase orders and check requests. Once deployed, this should improve the timeliness of tribal assistance checks.

Look for more information during upcoming months and be sure to visit the website to check on the new look!

Private Water Well Maintenance Tips

Many people in the United States, especially in rural areas, use privately owned wells for their sole water source. Even though private wells are not subject to Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) regulations concerning the operation and maintenance of their well, they still need to practice safety and maintenance of their wells. The following are some tips to ensure that your drinking water is safe.

becoming an ever-growing necessity throughout the world today. Conserving and protecting this limited resource is essential in ensuring an adequate supply of water for all your needs as well as for future generations.

• Test, test, test! – Remember, private water well owners themselves have the primary responsibility to test well water for potential contaminants.

- Keep contaminants away – Avoid mixing, using or storing hazardous chemicals, such as paint, fertilizer, pesticides, motor oil, gas, weed killer and other pollutants near the well.
- Don't allow back-siphonage – Use back flow prevention devices (available at local hardware stores) on all outside faucets with hose connections to help keep pollutants from back siphoning into the hose.
- Visually inspect exposed parts of the well – Make sure there are no cracks or damage to the well casing or well cap, and the well cap fits tightly. Also, ensure the area around the wellhead slopes away from the well, and is free of leaves, grass and other debris.
- Seal abandoned wells – Abandoned and improperly constructed wells can be sources of potentially polluted groundwater, which could make your drinking water unsafe.
- Conserve and protect your water - Water conservation is

Native Youth Preventing Diabetes

The Iowa Tribe of Oklahoma took several youth to participate in a diabetes prevention camp called NYPD camp. NYPD is an acronym that stands for Native Youth Preventing Diabetes. This acronym was developed by the kids participating in the first NYPD camp in 2001. The primary goal is to prevent diabetes and metabolic syndrome in our tribal youth. NYPD originated as a day camp for two days by a tribal coalition of five tribes. It has grown to twelve area tribes and has received national recognition such as Association of American Indian Physicians Model Program of the Year and being presented at the American Association of Diabetes Educators Convention.

NYPD camp is a 5 day/4 night residential camp. The camp location rotates each year. This year we went to Fort Gibson Lake. The kids participated in various classes/activities to learn more about healthy lifestyles. Topics included nutrition, physical activity, self-esteem, cultural awareness, tobacco cessation, and diabetes prevention. Activities included swimming, arts and crafts, games, canoeing, hiking and stick-ball. The Absentee Shawnee Tribe sponsored a dance as the big finale on Thursday evening.

We were pleased to take Abe Lincoln as a Junior NYPD Leader this year. He was a great help and the Camp Director shared their appreciation of his efforts to the Iowa Tribal Diabetes Staff. The Iowa Tribe plans on participating with the NYPD Tribal coalition in 2011. If you would like more information, please contact Patty Anson at Perkins Family Clinic (405) 547-2473.
